[Note] 1. Enter the results from FY 2011.

2. The "Internal Joint Research Funding" referred to here is research funding which has been allocated in the budget, and regardless of its designation as individual or joint research, is competitive funding which is awarded after an application and screening process (typically known as Department Research Funding).
3. When travel expenses are included in research expenses, there is no need to exclude them.
4. The total amount should match the total for Internal Joint Research Funding in the Breakdown of Instructor Research Funding (Table 23).
